What About You?

2025-08-26

This assignment will serve a three-fold purpose. It'll be a relatively painless introduction to RMarkdown files and how to work with them. It'll give me a bit of insight into the class. Finally, it'll also give you no-stress introduction to submitting to canvas. Hopefully any kinks in the system can be worked out with this faux-assignment before the topical ones.

For this, you just need to type your response to a question immeditately below that question. Afterwards, you'll need to knit (render, create) the project to a pdf.

Please do not worry about messing with the things in <> as those are used for formatting.
